

Probate, Fiduciary and Trusts

KRCL thrives on helping clients who are facing big-dollar losses and entangled in hard-fought disputes.

Our clients in this area of the law run the gamut, including:

- Fiduciaries
- Beneficiaries
- Executors
- General partners and partnerships
- Limited partners and partnerships
- Shareholders
- Directors
- Officers

We represent both plaintiffs and defendants but tend to favor representing the party who has been wronged or made more vulnerable because of misappropriation, malfeasance, self-dealing, usurping corporate opportunity, or some other kind of wrongful act. Regardless of which side of a dispute we represent, we recognize that most parties do not want a long, drawn-out legal dispute. Emotion is a common thread in probate, fiduciary, and trust litigation, which can often produce expensive and drawn-out lawsuits. As a result, we prepare on the front end to attempt to resolve the dispute privately and discretely before any lawsuit is filed and without public attention. However, in the event that is not an option, we move too quickly and aggressively prepare the case for trial and realize the ultimate goal, which is to prevail in the dispute.

Related Attorneys

Kenneth W. Biermacher
Brian N. Hail
Richard L. Hathaway