

LITIGATION ALERT: New Medicare/Medicaid Reporting Requirements

Litigation Update, Health Care & Medical Peer Review, Articles / January 5, 2009

Beginning July 1, 2009, all liability insurance carriers, self-insured companies, and workers' compensation plans will be required to report to Medicare if an individual making a personal injury claim is a Medicare recipient. This new law is raising a host of concerns to those who regularly work in this area, due to the far-reaching and adverse impact this law will have on personal injury litigation nationwide.
