At KRCL we build long-term relationships with our clients so we can anticipate their legal needs. Minimizing risk is a key component of success for a business and limiting exposure to litigation is vitally important. We manage all corporate and business transactions with these goals in mind, and we provide insightful counsel and legal advice to help in-house counsel, corporate executives and business owners with every aspect of managing a successful business.

- Business legal counsel and advice
- Entity formation and restructuring
- State and federal filing requirements
- Outside General Counsel services

With deep experience in highly complex corporate transactions, the KRCL attorneys assist our business clients with:

- General Corporate Matters
- Corporate finance and refinancing
- Corporate tax planning
- Mergers and acquisitions
- Restructuring, reorganization and asset liquidation
- Cyber security
- Securities Law Reporting & Compliance

General Corporate

Business entities are frequently advised in connection with the operation of a business to take advantage of limitation of liabilities, taxation, succession and other matters. Determination of whether a corporation, limited liability company, limited partnership or other entity involves a careful balancing of the client's priorities and the legal requirements of each entity.

KRCL represents business owners in connection with:

- Formation of appropriate legal entities
- Transfers of assets and business operations from individuals into legal entities
- Compliance with the legal requirements to maintain a legal entity in good standing
- Planning for the succession of ownership
